CERTIFICATE OF INDEPENDENT BID DETERMINATION

- 1 This Standard Bidding Document (SBD) must form part of all bids¹ invited.
- 2 Section 4 (1) (b) (iii) of the Competition Act No. 89 of 1998, as amended, prohibits an agreement between, or concerted practice by, firms, or a decision by an association of firms, if it is between parties in a horizontal relationship and if it involves collusive bidding (or bid rigging).² Collusive bidding is a per se prohibition meaning that it cannot be justified under any grounds.
- 3 Treasury Regulation 16A9 prescribes that accounting officers and accounting authorities must take all reasonable steps to prevent abuse of the supply chain management system and authorizes accounting officers and accounting authorities to:
 - a. disregard the bid of any bidder if that bidder, or any of its directors have abused the institution's supply chain management system and or committed fraud or any other improper conduct in relation to such system.
 - b. cancel a contract awarded to a supplier of goods and services if the supplier committed any corrupt or fraudulent act during the bidding process or the execution of that contract.
- 4 This SBD serves as a certificate of declaration that would be used by institutions to ensure that, when bids are considered, reasonable steps are taken to prevent any form of bid-rigging.
- 5 In order to give effect to the above, the attached Certificate of Bid Determination (SBD 9) must be completed and submitted with the bid:

² Bid rigging (or collusive bidding) occurs when businesses, that would otherwise be expected to compete, secretly conspire to raise prices or lower the quality of goods and / or services for purchasers who wish to acquire goods and / or services through a bidding process. Bid rigging is, therefore, an agreement between competitors not to compete.

BID TERMS OF REFERENCE FOR APPOINTMENT OF TWO CONSULTANTS TO ASSESS A POSSIBLE BREAK IN SERIES IN THE QLFS HISTORICAL DATA AND RENDER TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE WITH EXAMINATION OF PARALLEL RUN AND COMPUTATION OF LINK FACTORS IN THE QLFS MIGRATION TO A COMPUTER ASSISTED PERSONAL INTERVIEW (CAPI) MODE OF DATA COLLECTION.

AIM AND TERMS OF REFERENCE

1. Aim

To procure the services of two consultants for a period of 60 working days to provide technical assistance on the assessment of a possible break in the historical series of the Quarterly Labour Force Survey (QLFS) historical data produced by Statistics South Africa (Stats SA), as well as to providing technical assistance in the examination of a Parallel Run and computation of link factors in the QLFS arising from the survey's migration to a Computer Assisted Personal Interview (CAPI) mode of data collection.

2. Background

- 2.1 In May 2018 some end-user allegations arose claiming that there is a break in series in the QLFS data between the 4th quarter of 2014 and the 1st quarter of 2015 as a result of the move by Stats SA to its new Master Sample (MS). This also included claims that the number of single person households has been on the increase, suggesting that in many households not all household members have been enumerated by Survey Officers in the course of collecting data on the QLFS in the field".
- 2.2 It is common practice to redesign the Master Sample after every Population and Housing Census. Stats SA redesigned the 2007 Master Sample in 2013 using the 2011 Census data. The 2013 Master Sample was designed with the aim of increasing the precision of QLFS estimates. The new Master Sample was introduced in its entirety (all 4 rotations) in the 1st quarter of 2015. Prior to this, a parallel exercise of phasing-in the master sample was undertaken. This was done to understand the impact of the new MS through the phasing-in of the new MS as well as minimising the rotation group bias.
- 2.3 The QLFS results of the 1st quarter of 2015 were released after an inspection ~~delayed~~ to determine the impact of the implementation of the new Master Sample on the estimates of the QLFS series using the results of the phase-in exercise as well as the results of 1st quarter of 2015. Based on the results of the analysis performed and the investigations done, Stats SA could not at the time of releasing the 1st quarter QLFS results of 2015 conclusively pronounce ~~say~~ whether there was a break ~~or not~~ in the QLFS series. It was then decided to monitor the estimates over 4 quarters until such time that the sample has stabilised and the year-on-year changes become fully ~~were~~ available. Based on the QLFS results for the 1st quarter of 2016, and a comparison of the design of the two Master Samples, as well as the fact that there were no other changes in the statistical value chain, it was concluded that there is no evidence to suggest that a break in the series has occurred, thus requiring no adjustments. While Stats SA confirmed this at the time of releasing the 1st quarter QLFS results of 2016, it was resolved that independent consultancy services should be enlisted for a non-aligned assessment of the aforementioned end-user allegations and/or their claims in order to set aside possible concerns about the overall use of QLFS data.

- 2.4 In addition, in its 2017/18 Annual Report, Stats SA identified the QLFS as one of the first surveys to adopt a digital approach to data collection, envisaging that the migration from the Paper-Assisted Personal Interview (PAPI) mode to the CAPI mode of data collection will result in improved quality and a more cost-effective model for the survey and its resultant series. Further to that, in its Work Programme of 2019/2020, Stats SA advised of its plans to compile the quarterly labour force survey using only the Computer Assisted Personal Interview (CAPI) mode of data collection. This marks a period of transition away from the survey's current PAPI mode of data collection, which requires sound statistical and related approaches to the handling of data and its analysis over the migration period, in a way that preserves the integrity of the survey's processes as well as its estimates of labour market dynamics.
- 2.5 Given the background outlined above, Stats SA now seeks consultancy services with a twofold – mutually complementary – aim. One is for work that requires an independent assessment to review any end-user allegations / claims of a break in the QLFS series, and in so doing to verify the conclusion reached by Stats SA that there is no evidence to suggest such a break exists. The other is for work in respect of assistance on matters of methodology relating to and/or arising from the migration of the Quarterly Labour Force Survey to a Computer Assisted Personal Interview (CAPI) mode of data collection.

3. Terms of reference and roles and responsibilities

The consultant(s) will:

- 3.1 Review the entire QLFS time series and advise on the basis of observed trends over time whether any of those constitute a break in series.
- 3.2 Examine the time series relationships between QLFS estimates, and macro-economic and labour market variables from other sources, to determine if there was a significant change in the relationships starting in the first quarter of 2015.
- 3.3 Examine the algorithms used to create the 2011 Census-based Master Sample with a view to determining their compatibility with the algorithms used to create the 2001 Census-based Master Sample.
- 3.4 Analyse the changes in census data (2001 to 2011) with a view to establish the extent to which the decline in average household size can be attributed to the increase in the proportion of one-person households.

stats sa

Department:
Statistics South Africa
REPUBLIC OF SOUTH AFRICA

- 3.5 Seek out independent sources of information on changes in the distribution of households by size and compare the information found with changes in estimates of households by size derived from the QLFS in the relevant period.
- 3.6 Examine the distribution of households by size and other attributes in the QLFS in 2014 and 2015; compare the distribution of households by size and other attributes from the 2011 Census and the 2015 QLFS as well as make corresponding comparisons with the 2016 Community Survey.
- 3.7 Compare the PSU design and the corresponding list counts, and flag the PSUs with extremely large percent differences.
- 3.8 Analyse the adjustment factors used in the QLFS to investigate whether household weighting results in introducing bias to the household size distribution.
- 3.9 Assess the slippage rates.
- 3.10 Investigate the possibility of other changes to the QLFS whose introduction could have coincided with the implementation of the new Master Sample that may have contributed to seeming and/or apparent changes in the time series between 2014 and 2015; examine if there were any changes in the field procedures and data processing (including weighting).
- 3.11 Do any other investigations that will make it possible to establish and/or verify whether there was a break in the QLFS historical series.
- 3.12 Deliver statistical techniques, procedures, and practices adjusting for transferral from a Paper Assisted Personal Interview (PAPI) to a CAPI mode of data collection in the QLFS, involving calculation of link factors, re-weighting of survey data, splicing and smoothing, and seasonalisation of the series in the QLFS.
- 3.13 Recommend and/or introduce refinement of process practices in transferal from a PAPI to a CAPI mode of data collection in the QLFS aimed at keeping methodological approaches intact.
- 3.14 Provide software code compatible with the software architecture and systems of Stats SA should such be developed for the transfer, editing, analysis, calculations and display of handled QLFS data.
- 3.15 Deliver training and capacity development in the usage and updates of the implemented statistical techniques, procedures, and practices (as per 3.12); process refinement practices (as per 3.13); and software solutions to Labour Statistics and Methodology and Evaluation staff in Stats SA as applicable (as per 3.14).

- A detailed report on the findings from the assessment of a break in series
- Conclusions regarding the existence or non-existence of a break in the series
- Recommendations for remedial action, if there is a break in series.
- A detailed report on the examination of a Parallel Run and computation of link factors in the QLFS arising from the survey's migration to a Computer Assisted Personal Interview (CAPI) mode of data collection
